Sample activities:

INTERGENERATIONAL PROGRAMMING

Mature adults, young adults and children all learn from each other, and fostering these relationships within the community and watching them grow can bring out the best in even the most timid...and the most fun.

AROMATHERAPY

We want your loved one to be – and feel – his or her very best self, so we utilize aromatherapy hand massage designed to enhance overall wellbeing.

WELLNESS

Wellness-enhanced programs such as onsite fitness classes, dancing, and walking promote independence, mobility, and vitality.

COOKING AND CREATING

We value your loved one's culinary talents at Vineyard, and afternoons are celebrated with a collaboration of special snacks and refreshments.

MUSIC

Musical memory involves more regions of the brain than most types of memory, and some of these regions are less susceptible to the effects of Alzheimer's and dementia. We utilize music to allow for greater recall and emotion, musical aptitude and appreciation, and to engage on a deeper level.

ART

For those living with dementia, art provides creative stimulation, social interaction, and helps to develop fine motor skills with a variety of positive outcomes, including increased confidence, concentration, and motivation.

MEMORIES IN THE MAKING

All of the elements of a life story provide important tools for improving communication, preventing boredom, and honoring your loved one's life. When families come together to create their storybook, it's a meaningful celebration of a life well lived.
